It was a beautiful day in Storybrook Village, where Whyatt lived with all of his fairy-tale friends.

Pig was having an awful day. He wanted to play, but Wolfy kept jumping out and scaring him!

"Whyatt! Did you see that?" asked Pig. "Wolfy keeps pretending to be a bush or a bug or something. Then he jumps out and says, 'Boo!' How can I get him not to do that?"

"This is a super-big problem," said Whyatt. "And a super-big problem needs us, the Super Readers!"

Whyatt and Pig raced to the Book Club and met the other Super Readers: Princess Pea and Red Riding Hood.

Everyone listened as Pig explained his problem: "Wolfy, the little bad wolf, keeps jumping out at me and saying, 'Boo!' What can I do so Wolfy doesn't try to trick me anymore?"

"Good question, Pig," said Whyatt. "And when we have a question we look . . . in a book."

"But which book should we look in?" asked Pig.

Princess Pea waved her wand and chanted, "Peas and carrots, carrots and peas, book come out, please, please, please!"

Sparkles twinkled through the air as a book came twirling and whirling down from the shelves. The title was Little Red Riding Hood.

"That's my story!" exclaimed Red Riding Hood.

"Okay, Super Readers!" Whyatt said. "To solve Pig's problem we need to transform into super heroes. Then we need to jump into this book and find all of the red sparkly SUPER LETTERS. Without them we won't be able to answer Pig's question! Now it's time to transform!"

Alpha Pig with Alphabet Power!

WONDER RED WITH WORD POWER!

Princess Presto with Spelling Power!

Super Why with the Power to Read!

"Super Readers . . . to the rescue!"

The Super Readers jumped into their Why Flyers and strapped on their helmets. Then they buckled their seat belts and flew into the Little Red Riding Hood storybook.

"Super Readers . . . to the rescue!" they called as they zoomed away.

"Presto! We're in the story Little Red Riding Hood," said Princess Presto. "And there's Little Red Riding Hood. She's on her way to Grandma's house."

"And there's the wolf hiding behind a bush," said Super Why. "He's going to try and trick Little Red Riding Hood."

"He's just like Wolfy!" exclaimed Alpha Pig.

"And that's why we are in this book!" Super Why said. "The wolf and Wolfy are both trying to trick someone!"

"The wolf is going to Grandma's house," said Wonder Red. "We need to go over the river and through the woods and get there before he does!"

Suddenly, something jumped out at the Super Readers and yelled, "Grrr!"

"Ahhh!" cried Alpha Pig. "A scary . . . flower?"

"What a furry face you have for a flower," said Wonder Red. "Hey! You're not a flower! You're the wolf!"

"I'm not a wolf! I'm a flower!" yelled the wolf.

"We know you're the wolf," Super Why said. "You're just trying to trick us!"

"Got to go!" said the wolf. Then he jumped into a boat and sailed down the river!

"Oh no!" gasped Alpha Pig. "The wolf took the boat. How are we going to get over the river and to Grandma's house now?"

Princess Presto knew what to do. "Cue the sparkles. Cue the music . . ."

Princess Presto . . . to the rescue!

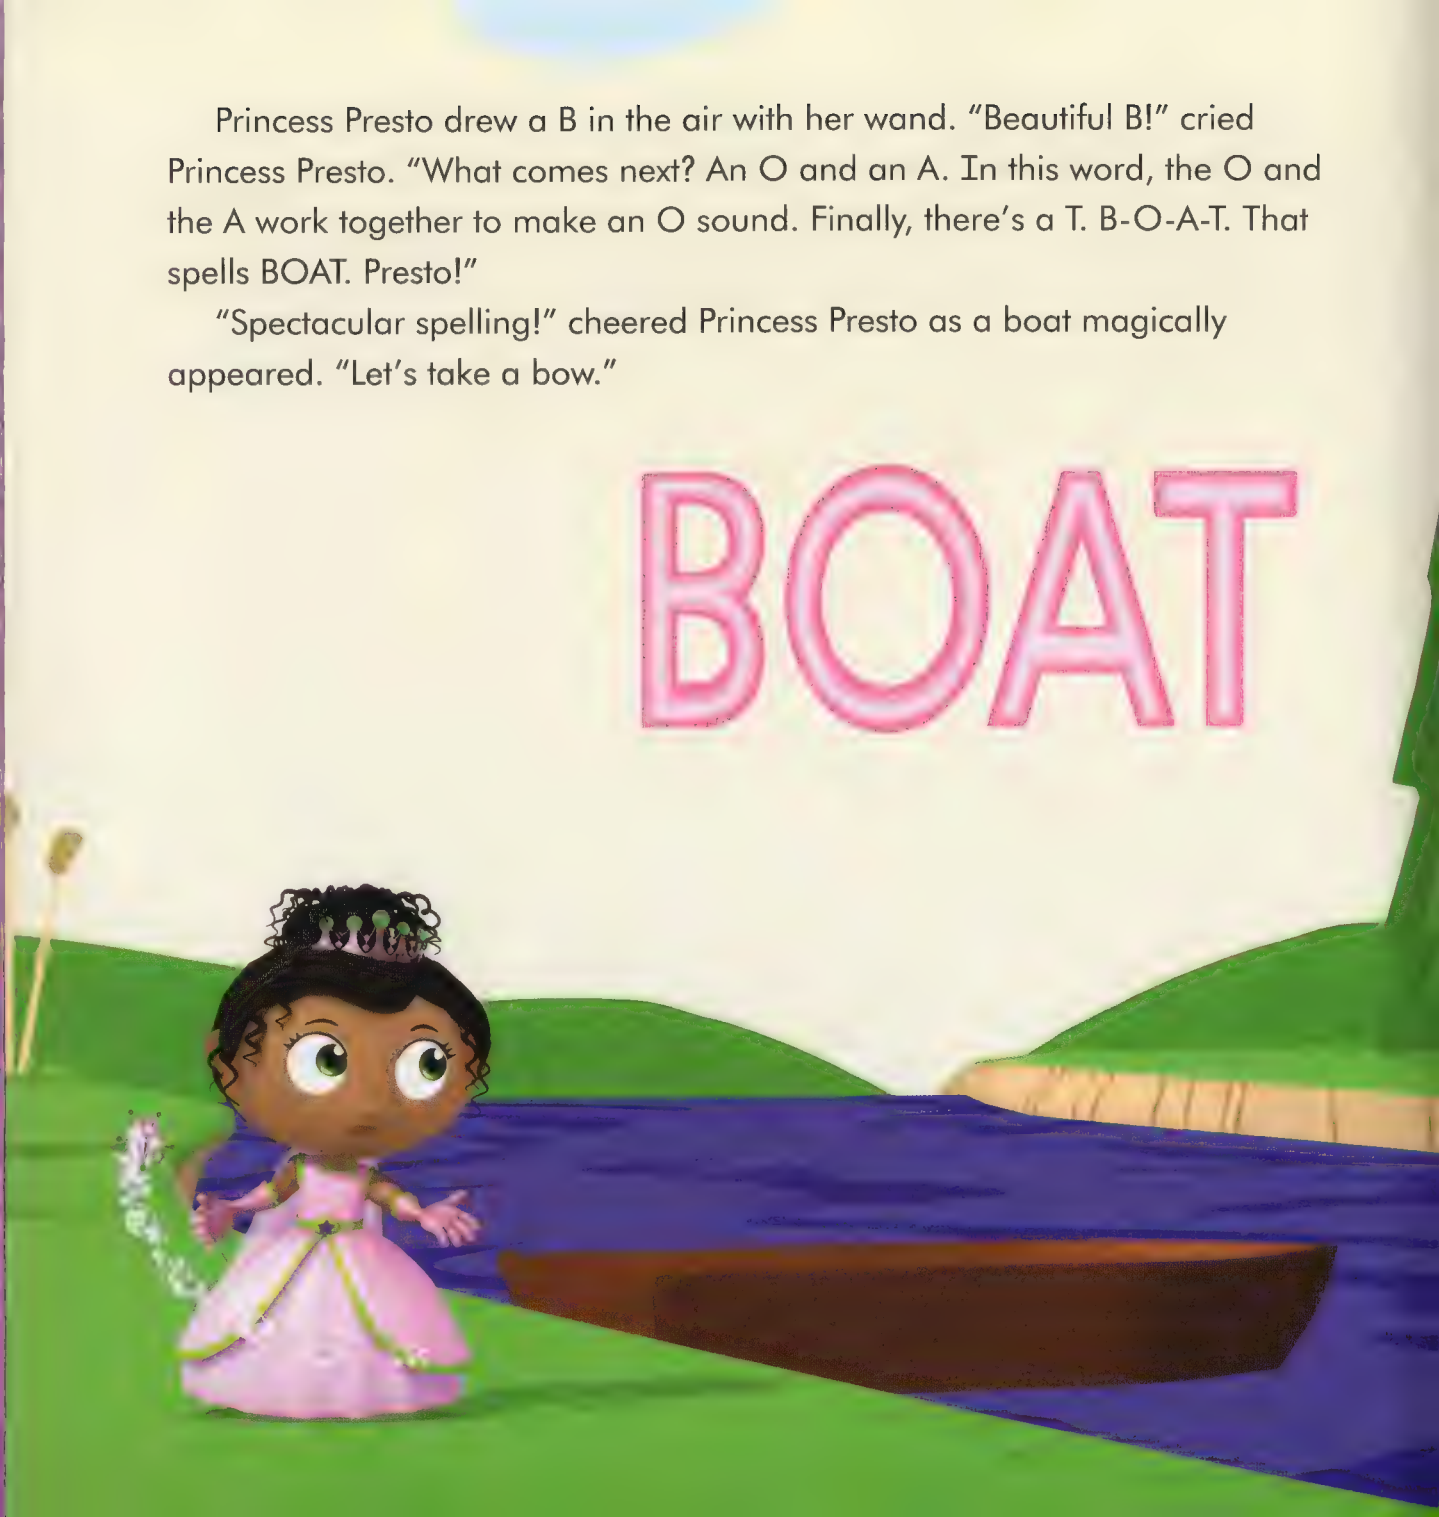
"With my Magic Spelling Wand, I can spell the word BOAT and make a boat appear to take us over the river!"

LIFT HERE to help the Super Readers!

"Wands up! Spell with me!" said Princess Presto. As she pointed her Magic Spelling Wand at the water, pink sparkles filled the air.

Princess Presto drew a B in the air with her wand. "Beautiful B!" cried Princess Presto. "What comes next? An O and an A. In this word, the O and the A work together to make an O sound. Finally, there's a T. B-O-A-T. That spells BOAT. Presto!"

"Spectacular spelling!" cheered Princess Presto as a boat magically appeared. "Let's take a bow."



"Now we can take the boat over the river to Grandma's house and get there before the wolf," Super Why said.

The Super Readers strapped on their life jackets and hopped into the boat. Then they sailed down the river singing, "Over the river and through the woods, to Grandmother's house we go!"

After the Super Readers crossed the river, Alpha Pig asked, "Now which way do we go?"

"We need to follow my song," explained Wonder Red. "Over the river and through the . . ."

"Woods!" everyone yelled at once.

"But how can we get through the woods super fast?" Wonder Red asked.

Alpha Pig . . . to the rescue!

"With my Amazing Alphabet Tools, I can build a train to take us through the woods super fast!"

LIFT HERE to help the Super Readers!

Alpha Pig worked as quickly as he could to build each letter of the alphabet. He sang as he worked, "A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, and Z. Now we need to find all of the letters in the word TRAIN," Alpha Pig said. "First comes the T. Then R, A, I, and N!"

Each time Alpha Pig found a letter in the word TRAIN, a part of a train appeared!

"Lickety letters, we found the letters in the word TRAIN and made a real train! Let's give ourselves a big thumbs-up!" Alpha Pig cheered.

"Now we can ride the train to get through the woods super fast!" said Super Why.

"And get to Grandma's house before the wolf!" added Alpha Pig.

The Super Readers jumped into the train and zoomed off through the woods.

"We made it to Grandma's house!" Super Why exclaimed.

Wonder Red opened the door and said, "Grandma, are you in here? Did you see that tricky wolf?"

"No wolf in here," a voice called from inside. "It's just me, a nice grandma with a little cold. Ah-choo!"

"My, what big eyes you have for a grandma," said Wonder Red.

"The better to see you with, my dear," Grandma answered.

"Hmm . . . And what big ears you have for a grandma," said Super Why.

"Oh, well, the better to hear you with!" Grandma replied.

"You have eyes like a wolf, fluffy ears like a wolf, and great big teeth like a wolf," said Wonder Red. "You're not my grandma. You're the wolf!"

The wolf is in Grandma's bed.

"You're right. I am the wolf!" the wolf said proudly.

"You tried to trick us again!" said Alpha Pig.

"That's right! And I'm going to trick Little Red Riding Hood, too!" said the wolf.

"No! I won't let you! Get out of this bed!" cried Wonder Red.

"No way," replied the wolf. "I'm staying in Grandma's bed. It's in my story. See?"

"Oh no! What can we do?" cried Wonder Red.

Super Why . . . to the rescue!

"With the Power to Read, I can change this story and save the day!"

LIFT HERE to help the Super Readers!

"We want to get the wolf out of Grandma's bed so he can't trick Little Red Riding Hood. Let's change the word WOLF in this sentence," said Super Why.

Zzzap! Super Why used his Why Writer to zap the word WOLF out of the sentence.

"Who should be in Grandma's bed?" asked Super Why. "A boat? A train? Or Grandma?"

"We need to get Grandma into Grandma's bed!" continued Super Why. "Let's try the word GRANDMA."

Zzzap! Super Why zapped the word GRANDMA into the sentence.

Suddenly Grandma appeared in the bed!

"Super job, Super Readers!" said Super Why. "We changed the story and got Grandma back in her bed."

"Wait a minute!" the wolf said. "I'm Grandma!"

"Wolf, you need to stop trying to trick people!" said Wonder Red.

"Stop?" asked the wolf. "Stop playing? I thought I was being funny."

"Tricking people is not funny," replied Wonder Red. "You need to stop."

"I'm sorry. I'll stop tricking people," the wolf said.

"Thank you," said Wonder Red. "Super Readers, let's roll! Bye, Grandma."

The Super Readers had collected all the Super Letters and changed the story of Little Red Riding Hood. Now it was time to go home.

"Why Flyers! Back to the Book Club!" said Super Why.

The Super Readers returned to the Book Club and transformed back into their storybook selves.

With a whiz and a zap, Whyatt made all the Super Letters appear on the Super-Duper Computer. "S-T-O-P. That spells STOP," said Whyatt. "But why?"

"I wanted to know what I could do so Wolfy doesn't try to trick me anymore. And just like Red, I need to tell Wolfy to stop!" said Pig.

The Super Readers went to the playground to find Wolfy.

"Boo!" yelled Wolfy as he jumped out from behind a tree.

"Ahhh!" Pig cried. "Wolfy, I need you to stop trying to trick me!"

"Stop? But it's so funny," Wolfy replied.

"It's funny for you, but not for me," Pig said. "I don't like it when you try to trick me. You know what is funny? A joke!"

So Pig and Wolfy told jokes for the rest of the day—and everyone had fun!

"Hip, hip, hurray! The Super Readers saved the day!
We changed the story. We solved the problem.
We worked together so . . .
Hip, hip, hurray! The Super Readers saved the day!"
